

CAPmena

CAPmena (Center for Analysis and Proposals for Middle East and North Africa) is an independent and non-partisan think tank.

It strives to better understand the Middle East and North Africa, change the oftentimes negative perception associated to it, and strengthen its attractiveness:

In analyzing current dynamics and anticipating future evolutions;

In directly engaging the actual actors of the economic and political life;

In promoting “best practices” and shedding greater light on successful projects.

Once published, these studies typically receive extensive media coverage and are actively lobbied to public opinions and relevant decision makers.

Created by Fatiha Dazi-Héni, Franck Galland, Romain Geiss and François-Aïssa Touazi, CAPmena is the dedicated think-tank to MENA region of CAPnouveaumonde.

In order to ensure the viability of its action, increase its research capacity, and internationalize its presence, CAPnouveaumonde is currently seeking the contribution of partners wishing to participate in this enterprise.

Website: <http://www.capnouveaumonde.org/capmena/>