

PROFESSOR NICOLAS SIRVEN

*Assistant Professor in Economics
Sorbonne-Paris-Cité University*

Nicolas Sirven, is an Assistant Professor in Economics at Sorbonne-Paris-Cité University (Paris Descartes) since September 2013. He was previously a Senior Research Officer at IRDES in Paris (2007-2013) and completed a two years post-doctorate at the University of Cambridge (2005-2007). He achieved a PhD on social protection (social capital) and poverty in developing countries. His main works now deal with economics of social protection, health economics, and population ageing.